BLACK TRUFFLE

Ref: TRF-02

Weight order: /

Description: is a species of truffle native to Southern Europe. It is one of the most expensive edible mushrooms in the world. The fruiting bodies of the black truffle exude a scent reminiscent of undergrowth, strawberries, wet earth or dried fruit with a hint of cocoa. Their taste, which fully develops after the truffles are heated, is slightly peppery and bitter.

Season: Winter

Serving suggestion: In cooking, black truffles are used to refine the taste of meat, fish, soups and risotto. Unlike white truffles, the aroma of black truffles does not diminish when they are heated, but becomes more intense.
